

Departmental Coursework Requirements Checklist – Ph.D. Program

This form reflects departmental requirements for students who started their doctoral degree in 2019-20, or later. Doctoral students who started prior to 2019-20 are also required to complete this form, consulting with their Supervisor and Area Chair in recording any adjusted requirements.

Student Name: _____

Date (mm/dd/yyyy): _____ Area in Psychology: _____

Departmental Courses and Comprehensive Exam

Required departmental coursework: Ph.D. students must take the equivalent of two full substantive graduate courses (e.g., 4 substantive half-courses; 1 full- and two half-courses).

1. One of the required half-courses must be in statistics, experimental design, or computational foundations. This course must come from this list:

- Psychology 9116A/B. Cognitive Neuroscience of Event Related Potentials, Electroencephalography and Magnetoencephalography
- Psychology 9223A/B. Neuroimaging of Cognition
- Psychology 9340: Clinical Research Methods
- Psychology 9342: Psychotherapy Research
- Psychology 93XX: Qualitative Clinical Cognition Science and Assessment
- Psychology 9343A/B: Formal Modeling of Individual Differences
- Psychology 9431: Program Evaluation
- Psychology 95xxA/B. Longitudinal Analysis
- Psychology 95xxA/B. Meta-Analysis
- Psychology 9545A/B. Test Construction and Survey Design
- Psychology 9542B. Multilevel Modeling (MLM)
- Psychology 9520A/B. Computational Models in Psychology and Neuroscience
- Psychology 9550A/B. Multivariate Analysis
- Psychology 9555A. Structural Equation Modeling
- Psychology 9631A/B. Research Methods in I/O Psychology
- Psychology 9702A/B. Research Methods in Social Psychology
- OTHER COURSE (student must have received approval to take an alternative course)
Name of course: _____

2. One of the required half-courses must be the comprehensive exam course (PSYCHOL 9999).
Comps course completed in the:

FALL WINTER SUMMER YEAR: _____

3. Please list the remaining two half courses:

Area-Specific Course Requirements

Has the student completed all area-specific required coursework? Yes No

Area Chair or designate signature and date:

Note to student and supervisor: Please return this form, in-person or by email, to the Graduate Assistant, Department of Psychology, SSC, 7th Floor, Room 7406, Email: edrdsda4@uwo.ca